The best lawyers of the democratic party are of the opinion that the law under which the indictments were found has no application to State elections. They are also of the opinion that the acts done by these gentlemen are not inimical to any law, State or Federal. Nevertheless, they will be subjected to expense in making their defense. As a citizen, as a democrat and as chairman of the democratic committee of Lincoln county, I think it is the duty of every democrat to save these gentlemen the burden of defraying their expenses. They should not be allowed even to bear one cent of it. They did only what the law of their State required them to do. history of Kentucky approaches its just fruition. I nominate Joseph C. S. Blackburn for the next United States senatorship from Kentucky. (Long applause.) Four years ago in this old hall the contest began. We were assembled then, handicapped by the riot alarm, by the militia, by bribery and by treachery, but our gallant leader never faltered. He has continued the good fight to this hour, and the democracy of Kentucky soon will be represented in the Senate by a real man, a real democrat. (Applause.) Kentucky has had a Marshall, a Clay, a Crittenden, Thompson, Breckinridge, Guthrie, Stephenson and Dayis, but in the history of this Commonwealth none tower over Jo C. S. Blackburn. (Applause.) Few men in Kentucky or elsewhere have been traduced as has he, but it has served only to brighten from the military reservation at San his record. He is the real representative of the unpurchased and unterrified democracy of Kentucky, and I believe the time has come when neither the militia, bribery nor treachery can pre vent his election. The circumstances were such during this contest that I have been drawn closely to Senator tion asserting American sovereignty in Blackburn, and I know whereof I speak when I say that Kentucky's sod Richard Batchelor, but they were dis- Telephone No. 2. was never trod by a truer man. All other subjects have been dropped by our citizens and the beginning of the 20th century is being warmly discussed. Jan. 1st, 1900 has many advocates, but 1901 seems to have the majority.

Since the resignation of Town Marshal Abel Pennington, the village has jogged along without a marshal. We understand that W. R. McClure was appointed to the position but as yet has not been sworn in. Circuit Clerk Griffin say; the county only allowed $60 on his and Judge Fish's bill for indexing and filing records, &c, of the clerk's office. He says according to his view of the law $212.80 would have been the proper sum.

Willis Griffia has just discovered that some enterprising thief had visited his garden and pulled up most of his fine turnips, cutting off the tops and replacing the tops where the vegetables were pulled from the ground. The patch continued green.

The only record in the county clerk's office here showing the registration of a dog, says that on Oct. 23, '93, Wm. Gay registered "Mat," a white and liver colored animal. Fee $1. On June 6, '96 he registered his "hog mark." No similar records appear on
